Ethics for Engineers & Planners in the Public Arena

Kristine Kubes, Kubes Law Office

Transportation engineers, planners, and related professionals may confront ethical dilemmas in many forms during their professional practice, especially in the public arena. In this course, attendees will examine relevant ethical codes and principles, examples of ethical dilemmas in professional practice, and how to apply those principles to identify ethical issues in practice, address them, avoid them, protect the public health, safety, and welfare, and manage risk better.

*Qualifies for 2 PHD hours for ethics training
